CHICAGO, SATURDAY, 31, 1896.

A dispatch from Baltimore states that Elizabeth E. Corbin, who recently married Robert Harvey, an Englishman, is going around the world before the latter's wealthy brother-in-law, Lord Revelstoke, can disinherit him. The bride is a lady, has several suitors for $50,000 for professional services. It would appear from this that Miss Corbin's attractions lie principally in the region of the purse, but we have grave misgivings of his guidance.

A dispatch from Washington says the Secretary of War has appointed a commission to select a site for a naval station on the Pacific coast, the naval preparations of the English at Esquimalt, B. C., being regarded as a dangerous menace to some of interests in San Francisco and the Pacific coast generally. If there is any danger to be apprehended in that quarter why not send a cable message to Victoria, or, as many as are needed? Victoria knows, or as nearly as we can learn, is not in the Pacific Coast business. It does not propose to be a party to any scheme, and seemed to nothing, and to only grant us here on terms to grow for them. Those will be no danger from Esquimalt or any other source with a Victoria and her dependencies existing along that coast.

The stocks of grain in Chicago elevators last Saturday evening were 4,061,710 bushels of wheat, 1,230,000 bushels of corn, 2,311,000 bushels of oats, 181,000 bushels of rye, and 114,000 bushels of barley. Total, 23,000,000 bushels of all kinds of grain, against 1,121,000 bushels a year ago. For the week ending last Saturday the receipts of grain in the Chicago district of Trunk-line Territory and Canada were 2,000,000 bushels, and shipments 1,000,000 bushels. Receipts of wheat, 1,000,000 bushels of corn, 1,000,000 bushels of oats, 1,000,000 bushels of rye, and 500,000 bushels of barley. These figures are large. Does the corresponding week a week ago for 27,000 to cover and shelter for 500,000 to corn. The visible supply of wheat for the corresponding week a year ago is placed at 1,700,000 bushels.

The money market was active and firmer, dollar rates being asked at times exceeding buyers' bids freely. Local securities were dull, bank shares being firmer, while gas and street railroad properties were easier. Trade exchange was dull and sterling firm. Stocks in Wall street were active and weak, led by Missouri Pacific, but there was a recovery later. The Chicago produce exchange was quiet, but wheat was firmer on reports of a better foreign demand for flour, and provisions on the fact that receipts of hogs were light. Oil opened with favorable gain over the closing figures, but it soon fell under, closed firm, corn higher, oats and barley easier, oats and rye steady, provisions dull and easy.

The Democratic managers of the five Silver Republican tickets have issued a general appeal to a part of candidates. It is urged that the Democratic tickets be supported in all the districts. The Democratic managers are to be rewarded along with the silver advocates for working for the success of a misnomer on the first ballot. Democrats, for instance, of the 1st district, Cook county, the Democratic Committee placed on the ballot here to elect to the silver ticket for Congress and to vote for Col. Bowen for Col. Bowen is Dr. The Democrats here are not to a position to be able to have strength, but through the aid of Democrats by their "fair" allies, who are to see that votes amounting to work for Democratic tickets in a body here. Has Fish ever had proof of the deals of the Democratic leaders in behalf of corporations.

The general and general democratic election for the 1st of November throughout the country is the subject of the address of the delegates to the Democratic Club on the Democratic platform. The latter document is a long one. The former doesn't. The latter is a clarion call to the rank and file of the party to vote for Bryan and Sewall. The former is a petition to this necessarily and exclusively Democratic body, on the part of the Democratic members of the Executive of the State of the Democratic party, and invites aid in the organization of the Democratic clubs throughout the country. The latter is a call to the Democratic

ATWOOD

"What splendid weather we've been having!" (Constants) Have you heard such a remark of late? Glad you've enjoyed it! Fine air to breathe, surely! But just take notice now, please.

Of Fur-Trimmed Coats we're a trifle cautious.

And some other influential clothing men have arrangements already completed for a strong dose of the other sort; we know many of you want it, want good sleighing, want to wear your seal skins and heavy ulsters. Just you be patient; it will be here shortly; meantime, make ready for it with a reliable

Rogers, Peet & Co. Overcoat at from $10 to $65; or a Rogers, Peet & Co. Ulster at from $15 to $35; or a Rogers, Peet & Co. Winter Suit, from $10 to $35.

Or in our Juvenile Department:

A Rogers, Peet & Co. Child's Overcoat from $7 to $20; or a Rogers, Peet & Co. Knee Pant Suit from $7 to $15.

&c, &c, &c.

Such goods never go begging; it's the "plunder," "hand-me-down," "ready made clothing" that is always being slaughtered, but you know very well such goods are not cheap at any price.

In our FURNISHING DEPARTMENT we're already feeling the additional impetus of the Christmas boom, and

In our HAT DEPARTMENT we propose, to tempt you, to give away Seal-skin Caps, Silk and Derby Hats (if low prices on reliable goods will influence you), instead of "pew-pews" and stuff that is of no earthly use to the recipient.

NOW WOULD ONE OF THESE STYLES SUIT YOU?

The Cotham. The Windsor. The Dressing Cap.

They range from $1.00 to $12.00, are made from seal skins, plushes, Scotch goods, fancy and plain, &c., &c.

[illegible] Sultan Wants to Be Sure Danger of an Outbreak and Ask the Government to Withdraw the Ships.—The Sultan Has Made Sure That the Sheriff's Troops—Proposal of Ambassador Thornton—Another Version of the Sultan's Request.

Constantinople, Dec. 31.—Contrary to expectations, all the troops are still under arms, and will be on guard to-night. The Sultan is evidently still nervous, and has ordered the arrest of several persons suspected of complicity in the plot. There is still much talking, but it is subdued. No answer has been given to the request of the Sultan that the ships of war may withdraw from the vicinity of Constantinople. Several boats of the fleet have been ordered to the Bosphorus to-day, but not to remain there. The Sultan is still in a state of fear, and has ordered the arrest of Salim Effendi this morning. Hadji Ali, who was arrested on Monday, was released this morning. Many persons have been arrested during the day, and the prisons are full to overflowing. Several deaths in the prisons are reported. Ali Effendi, Minister of Police, has been dismissed from office. The Sultan has given orders that the Sheriff troops shall remain under arms for a week longer. The Sultan's fear of danger seems to be slowly disappearing, and it is thought that the troops will be withdrawn in a few days. The Sultan has given orders that the Sheriff troops shall remain under arms for a week longer. ADMISSION OF NEW STATES

A GOOD TIME EXPECTED AT THE DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS.

Mr. Springer's Endeavors to Make the Post-office Bill a Party Measure Meeting with Strong Opposition.—The Agreement for the Admission of North Dakota.—The Dakota Enabling Act Modified in Senate Committee.—The Chicago Postmastership Digest Rules.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 31.—[Special.]—The members are pretty generally in town at the Democratic caucus, however anxious they may be to get home. The absentees of the party and other Democratic Congress men are also expected to be here, and the attendance of the Democratic members will be quite large. Should the Democrats be successful in getting a majority of the members present, they will probably proceed to the consideration of the Senate bill admitting North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana and Washington as States. The Senate bill admitting North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana and Washington as States, and providing for the admission of Dakota as a State, was passed by the Senate on the 22d inst. by a vote of 42 to 25. The bill was reported to the House on the 23d inst. by Mr. Springer, from the Committee on Territories, with a recommendation that it do pass. The bill was referred to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union, and was made the special order for the 31st inst. The bill was reported to the House on the 23d inst. by Mr. Springer, from the Committee on Territories, with a recommendation that it do pass. The bill was referred to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union, and was made the special order for the 31st inst.

CHAMBERLAIN AT HOME.

AND ENGAGEMENTS HE CANNOT MAKE WILL CAUSE HIM.

"Highbury" Has Become His Modern Rights and an Accomplished Englishman to Welcome Further Colonial Enterprise—Colonial Guest Seems Pre-dined.

LONDON, Dec. 10.—[New York World.]—In the living-room of the handsome home of Birmingham Joseph Chamberlain has given a companion sketch to the argument common which sent him to America to plan with the American people and has for some of the winning the American with almost every true English colony present with open arms. It is rather a foreign-looking room of gentlemen, diplomatic leaders, and the great prince upon to which the Right Honorable has not and struggle to it the moment was when the room.

The hour to which Mr. Chamberlain is designed for Thanks Day, "Highbury," to do and to the beautiful Friday August point of view, brought to a crowd to see of the Scottish men of the magnificent lovely Mr. Smith. But a famous landscape gardener has been at work now to see the dairy scene of an old park with the park to a mile entrance to age 2,000 to a charming town Chamberlain's chief great place the eagle to a residence, one mile hotels to Birmingham, and which is said to be the settlement to the Secretary Bath.

QUARTERS AND CHAMBERLAIN ARRIVING.

During the last three years, and particularly since the return from America to the colony, Mr. Chamberlain has devoted a great deal of time and money to beautifying Highbury. The house is considered a model of English public in taste and art with. The room is a spacious a central hall, Oriental fashion, making a gathered between two wings. The 100 guests to stand to each. Colonial, "The Grove," and Gothic; Saturday to hall and the entrance, and to grace of Mr. Chamberlain's accomplished daughter, who is now a year or two younger than her sister's wedding with. The Grove" stands the mansion of Sir Joseph Chamberlain's colonial private to the Board of the occupant of a great party—it a party, and the Chamberlain's Highbury.

Mr. Chamberlain's conversation on Ireland is brief and to the point. "Ireland," he said, "is a country of which I am very fond. I have been there many times, and I find a condition of affairs which seems incomprehensible to the English mind. The Irish people are very intelligent, very quick, very sympathetic, and very kind-hearted, but they are also very excitable, and they are governed by their emotions rather than by their reason. Their representatives in Parliament are, as a rule, men of ability, and they are returned to Parliament by a very large majority of the Irish people. Now, the Irish people have a right to be governed according to the wishes of the majority of their representatives in Parliament, and that is what we propose to do. We propose to govern Ireland according to the wishes of the majority of the Irish people, and I do not see why we should not succeed."

JOSEPH CHAMBERLAIN.

Mr. Chamberlain has to tell, and will, with many interesting anecdotes, when he returns to America. He will be accompanied on the voyage by his daughter and Miss Endicott, who have been the guests of Mr. Chamberlain's family and English friends for a month and greatly enjoyed their visit. They will be accompanied by Mr. Chamberlain's private secretary, Mr. Jesse Collings, and Mr. Chamberlain's valet, who is a man of many years' experience in the service of the Chamberlain family.
